

Hand-Penned Petals Week – Project 5 @LetItSnowStamping.com

Supplies:

- Misty Moonlight Cardstock
- Hand-Penned Designer Series Paper
- Basic White Cardstock
- Garden Green Cardstock
- Vellum Cardstock
- Misty Moonlight, Garden Green, Pale Papaya, and Tuxedo Black Stamp Pads
- Genial Gems
- Stampin' Dimensionals
- Stampin' Seal Adhesive
- Mini Glue Dots

Instructions:

We will start with a card base measuring 8-1/2"x5-1/2", scored and folded at 4-1/4" and a DSP card front measuring 4"x5-1/4".

Mount the DSP to the card base using Stampin' Seal Adhesive or Multipurpose Liquid Glue.

Cut a 2"x4-1/2" strip of Misty Moonlight Cardstock and cut one end into a banner edge. Glue it to the center of your card as shown below.

On a scrap piece of Basic White Cardstock stamp the focal image for your card.

Here, I am using the Stamparatus. First, I place the paper on my stamping platform and hold it down with the provided magnets (that I covered in painters tape for easier handling). Next, place your stamp, image side down, where you want to stamp the image.

Next, swing the plastic plate over and press to pick up the stamp.

Ink up your stamp and swing the arm back onto the paper and press evenly. If your image is not dark enough or is lighter in some areas, do this step again, without moving the paper.

Once your image is to your liking, remove the magnets, careful not let them stick together as they may break.

Using the filler stamps for the blossoms and flowers, stamp the large blossom in Misty Moonlight. If you look on the right, you can see where I was testing the color, to see what I liked best. The darkest was stamped directly from the stamp pad, then I stamped again without re-inking 2 times, the image getting lighter each time. This is called "Stamping Off". I decided that I liked the 2nd image best.

After stamping all of the blossoms and leaves, fill in the remaining parts of the stem using a Water Painter and Garden Green stamp pad.

Cut out the floral image using the coordinating dies, Penned Flowers Dies, and your die cutting machine.

Add Stampin' Dimensionals to the floral image. This image was a good one to use all of those side bits on the Stampin' Dimensionals sheet!

Cut out a Vellum Cardstock circle with the Layering Circles Dies. I used the second largest scallop circle die.

Attach the floral image to the vellum circle.

In order to make sure your Glue Dots do not show through the vellum, attach the Glue Dots where the floral image is at. I tried taking a photo of the Glue Dots, but they are hard to see.

Adhere this to your card front, centering on the banner strip.

Cut out a 2-1/4"x1" rectangle for your sentiment. Stamp sentiment in Misty Moonlight. Mat onto a Garden Green piece of cardstock measuring 2-3/8"x1-1/8". Adhere to card front.

Add a few Genial Gems to the card front. I added one to the center of the Pale Papaya blossom.

I added one to the sentiment and the other on the bottom left side of the vellum circle.
